NUMBER 34

On Washington's Farewell Address.

The following is a speech delivered by W. C. Hamilton, of the Southern Normal School at Bowling Green, Ky., February 22. Mr. Hamilton stands among the first as an orator and student in this school. He is one of our Menace county boys who has forged to the front and we are glad to give our people some idea of his developments by publishing this speech:

"When Washington delivered his farewell address a great work had been completed. The basis of this structure was laid in the founding of our government. It has borne its part through the progress of this century. It is inspiring in its teaching. We have not been disappointed by its advice. We hold it as a memorial of the past, a guide for the present and for all succeeding ages. It was left for a purpose, and that purpose reveals its character. It teaches patriotism and independence, civil liberty and christianity, cementing our national union, elevating and bringing into action our moral qualities and call to our minds afresh the noble blood that was shed for our independence.

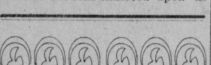

It was spoken by the tongue of man; now it speaks to us through the hearts of our countrymen, contrary to the spirit which leads to ignorance, strife and corruption, whose predominant influence has become imbedded in different sections of our Union. The spirit which has woven itself into our practice by the feeling of retaliation originated from the discordant parties, each struggling for supremacy. Separately each of these views has great force in prompting men to action, but when seeking the self-same object, they have the most violent and turbulent effect. These are the efforts put forth for pre-eminence, through the heat of contention, the infinite abuse of parties tearing down the best of characters. Listen to the wise man! The sage of Mt. Vernon! as he tells us that party spirit distracts the public councils, enfeebles the public administration, agitates the community with ill-founded jealousies and kindles the animosity of one party against another and fomulates discordant riots and insurrections. It is not the wise and moderate, the lovers of peace and good order, the men fit for the trust, but the bold, the violent, the men of strong passions and a selfish disregard for the safety and honor of our Union.

They thrust themselves into our government and seek the place as our rulers, men to whom liberty and patriotism are but a secondary consideration. They exempt themselves from bonds of council, which is so deeply indented with the sense of religious duty, which feels in all its energy the need of that tender tie which unites the hearts of all patriotic men, who hold the connection with our country which might have been severed, had we not been under the protection of a kind government, strengthened by that feeling of religious worship, from which we have obtained so many comforts and enjoyments at home. If we investigate the condition of other nations we see that instead of pure religion, they may be divided into transgressors and advocates of corruption, and are more attentive to the ordinances of men than oracles of truth.

The rulers of many nations have so pressed down the rights of private judgment and freedom of speech, until they have driven from many parts men who directed their course to this happy country of ours. Let us welcome our new visitors to the protection of a free government, supported by a body of people who would not turn religion into derision, nor for any consideration turn their swords against their own country.

Let us never lose that spark of patriotic love, which leads us to know if we should unite our American liberties with foreign Aggrandizement, we would be violating the principles of the great Leader. The father of this country advised in his farewell message, to observe good faith and justice with all nations, keep peace and harmony with them, but to avoid entangling alliance especially with European powers, and by interweaving our destiny with any part of Europe entangle our force and prosperity, and the rivalry would lead us to destruction. So great an annexation and such a distance from our government would gradually and eventually grow beyond our power to control. The power required to command peace and good order at home would subject all our rights and privileges to the power of that nation. We would find ourselves in need of more numerous supports for our government and the burdens inflicted upon us

CONTROLLER OF THE TREASURY,
Washington, D. D.,
February 17, 1902.

WHEREAS, By satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned it has been made to appear that THE TRADERS NATIONAL BANK OF MT. STERLING, in the city of Mt. Sterling, in the county of Montgomery and State of Kentucky, has complied with all the provisions of the Statutes of the United States, required to be complied with before an association shall be authorized to commence the business of banking.

Now, therefore, I, William B. Ridgely, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that "THE TRADERS NATIONAL BANK OF MT. STERLING," in the city of Mt. Sterling, in the county of Montgomery and State of Kentucky, is authorized to commence the business of banking as provided in Section 515 of the Revised Statutes of the United States.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, witness my hand and seal of office this twentieth day of February, 1902.

would surpass our capacity to withstand. Yet we may hear it said: "Join our affairs with foreign nations and we can all move more smoothly, and have no cause for disturbances and never wear the chain of an enemy.

By this we would have no method of putting our laws into execution, removing the unsought oppressors, preserving our own government in any peace and security. If our great nation retains that fire of patriotism they will never submit to such burdens. It would be an injustice to the great pillars of our government, stamp us with cowardice and allow the salvation of government to fall into the hands of a despotism. Then calamities will have entered our doors, the chain of oppression placed upon us and we will have to give up our glorious example, which the greatest and best men of our nation re-joice to look upon. We will be pressed by debts and taxes, dragged by an increase of revenues to ease their own burdens. It will have tainted every American heart, destroyed our walls of liberty and forced us a nation of disoriented vassals. Yet to withstand this avicious greed we have to but allow the shores to embrace our powers, and be the dead line of our intruders. We have formally and carefully chosen a government for ourselves, by open and influenced desire organized ourselves into a great body where honors are not conferred by birth or wealth, nor a rescue from criminality, but he who is most able to secure public happiness shall be the servant of the people.

Such distinction is drawn by the rulers of our government. "Leave the bird of night to the obscurity intended for him. And only expect the eagle with his wings tipped with the stars and stripes, to drive away the clouds and gaze boldly upon the Sun."

Now we stand where we behold a great view of the past, where smoke once shadowed our fame and darkness spread over the land, but the great foresight of man, observed the revelation of our future as a rainbow on the edge of a summer's cloud, showing on its mantled brow the great future awaiting us.

This our nation was saved, our peace secured, there was no mistake in their efforts. We are but one great body of people, our union is now complete. A love for the perpetual union is mingling with us in all the pleasures of life, and permeated the innermost recesses of our lives. Through it we see not the brim of an old shadow, but the stature of our country's honor, which every one may make his own, and cherish it in the name of him in whose sacred memory this day has been set apart. And may it ever be honored with the same earnest spirit. He who did more than all others to make the union, in bidding his countrymen farewell, conjured them to cherish a constant, cordial and immovable attachment to it, to think and speak of it as a palladium of our safety and prosperity and indignantly frown upon any attempt to enfeebles the sacred ties which now bind us together. As citizens we honor him for the gift of our union, with recollections of thankfulness and gratitude equally fervent. At this day it can not but strike us as extraordinary that we are walking under the shadow of a monument which bears his name, the Declaration of Independence, the dissolution of the ties of allegiance, the assumption of sovereign power and the institution of Civil Government. But still there remains a crowning document, advice to his people, the essence of his own mind and heart, influenced by the will of God, for the management of affairs of our union at home and abroad. With all this, we should not make a mistake to ignore its truth, all danger is ahead. We have been wisely admonished to look upon our union for safety and prosperity, discountenancing every act that would in any way lead us to believe it could be abandoned, or any attempt to separate it into parts, or sever the sacred ties which now bind us together. Without union our liberties would never have been given, without union we can never maintain our power. The loss of justice, rights in all future happiness must inevitably follow a dissolution of our union. Let us ever remember that we bear the name of Americans, are the authors of our own laws, that American blood was not expended in vain, and that same spirit of freedom beats in the heart of our countrymen.

We to-day can see the growth of our broad land in beauty and grandeur; in our hands we hold a reward long sought. If we, like other nations, allow a few centuries to warp us, who will again come to our rescue? Who will build anew a fallen government? Who will rear again the stately walls of constitutional freedom? "And erect a monument that nations can not alter, time can not efface and give to us a foundation for our government that will never decay? We should cause nations to look upon us with admiration, the earth, which we inhabit embracing to her bosom her greatest sons, whose faces look upward from the sod and behold the light of liberty still burning. Let us hope for our country's progress in the same happy state, filled with the continuance of her grandeur, and at the close of this century which has just commenced may this day be celebrated with the same heart-felt thankfulness as we all refer to the blessings it bestowed upon us nearly two centuries ago. May our nation remain untouched and unimpaired, still growing in majesty, its arms a compass for the earth stretching forth its banner gleaming with its natural luster, without the fading of a stripe or the loss of a star, carrying with its far reaching arm the great document of truth; withstanding the pressure of centuries, clinging to its youthful vigor and strength of manhood. Bound with national union as the chain of life is centered to the heart, and without a blunder it will soar with steady wing to the summit of national glory. Like an emanation from heaven it has gone forth and will continue to go. It has shown in its example that its benignity is as great as its strength, that it has withstood the irresistible force with which they have prostrated principalities and powers. Then in the end, when our work has been completed, after labors, perils, and sacrifices of a long eventful career, and until the Archangel shall sound the proclamation that time shall be no more, may the name of America embraced by National Union stand enrolled at the top of the register of progress and, sinking behind the unseen wall, have hoisted her banner in the ethereal regions so high that after the stripes have gone the stars for our own America are left still shining.

KENTUCKY INDUSTRIES

THE MANUFACTURE OF TOBACCO IS THE MOST IMPORTANT.

Interesting Census Figures Showing the Growth of this Industry in the Commonwealth.

The statistics of manufacturing industries in the State of Kentucky for the census year 1900 show that the manufacture of tobacco is the most important industry in the State. The 337 establishments reported in 1900 with a total capital of $9,451,725 gave employment to 6,838 wage earners, or 10.9 per cent of the wage earners of the State, and the products were valued at $21,922,111, or 4.2 per cent of the products of the State. In 1890 there were 26 establishments with a total capital of $4,890,851, wage earners to the number of 5,435 and products valued at $11,321,375. The increase in the value of the products during the decade was $10,600,736, or 93.6 per cent. In 1890 there were 38 establishments in the State devoted to the manufacture of smoking and chewing tobacco and snuff; in 1890 there were 79 establishments in Kentucky engaged in the stemming and rebanding of tobacco. The number of such establishments has increased to 98 in 1900.

Owing to the facilities for communication with the largest tobacco growing section of the country, Louisville has been for many years a leading leaf tobacco market of the world, and its greater facilities as a distributing point have given it an added advantage over other localities in the State equally well supplied with the leaf.

WE HAD HOPED.

Probably we were not in possession of such facts as would have enabled us to decide aright the merits of the Farris Local Option Bill which was before the Kentucky Senate last week.

Viewed from our standpoint and understanding we had hoped that the legislature would honor itself and the State by the passage of this bill, which seeks to restrain the deadly and damning power of the whisky traffic. The bill was defeated. Surprise, disappointment and sorrow came to us when we knew that the name of Montgomery's Senator was among those who voted against the bill.

We will not give up because of defeat, for upon the final issue depends, in a large measure, the maintenance of virtue, honor, manhood, temporal prosperity, happiness and eternal destiny of many men and women in many or all counties of our beloved State.

Let us should be misunderstood concerning our position as to the most effective agency for the suppression of the evils of the whisky traffic and of all other sins, again we declare that the GOSPEL is the power of God for the correction of these state and national evils. If the spirit of God and Christ dwells in a man he will not engage in any business which brings such wreck and ruin to his fellow men. Long ago the question was asked: "Am I my brother's keeper?" To this we emphatically answer "Yes."

But if men will not heed the divine appeal, then as a last resort the people in lawful ways should compel the agencies of evil to desist from their destructive work.

FOR LOCAL OPTION.

AGAINST THAT BILL.

Senator Caswell Prewitt was here from Saturday until Monday. His friends, not a few, had expressed their astonishment that he had voted against the Local Option Bill, and for Mr. Prewitt we had said he would give good reasons, for we knew him to be a temperance man.

Without undertaking to repeat the reasoning which led Mr. Prewitt to vote against this bill, we will give his statement in substance: "Such a bill as was offered to become a law would result in more drink shops than under the present law, that they would be of the blind tiger, low dive kind and without returning to the localities where the deadly drink drinking is practiced, one dollar for which is paid for prosecutions, etc."

To-night is regular meeting of the Business Men's Club. There will be matters of importance before it, interesting to every citizen of Mt. Sterling. Every man should use his "inch of time" in the interest concerning us most at this time. The electric railway matter should engage the attention of every citizen. The entire country will be webbed by them doing only such work as is adapted to them. It will be a new business, the marketing of things perishable. Did you ever count the number of berries dried on the bushes? Try it and you will be astounded to know that thousands of dollars in value has been taken up by evaporation.

These little perishable things would give additional circulation to money and the whole country would become more like one manufacturing town with pay day all the while. Let us talk of the advantages and if there be any disadvantages let's have them. We are for home interests first, last and all the while.

PROCEEDINGS AT FRANKFORT.

The Farris Anti-Cigarette bill was killed in the Senate.

The bill appropriating $15,000 annually for premiums at a State Fair has passed the Senate, and having already been passed by the House, goes to the Governor for his acceptance or refusal.

The Renick bill, prohibiting railroad companies from charging for the capacity of a freight car instead of for the weight of the freight contained therein was adopted on Wednesday.

The local option measure known as the Farris "County Unit" bill was defeated in the Senate on Wednesday, the vote being 22 against the bill to 15 for it. The Senators voting against the bill were: Allen, Barrett, Booles, Byron, Cantrill, Carroll, Coleman, Dyer, Ferguson, Fleming, Harrell, Hickman, Kenton, McNutt, Porter, Prewitt, Pritchard, Richardson, Sublett, Taylor, Watson, Weller. Those voting for the bill were Senators Burnam, Catron, Cox, Dye, Edwards, Farris, Howard, Huff, Huntsman, Kirk, Tolin, Watkins, White, Whitehead, Utey.

STYLES FOR SPRING AND SUMMER 1902.

That you may know what is the proper cut for your new Spring Suit, we give you briefly a short statement. Our book of styles is out and you may call and see it.

The new SEMI-MILITARY SACK COAT is the best all-round coat made. Fits and looks better on more men than any garment.

The 2-BUTTON DOUBLE-BREASTED SACK, with long tailored lapel, is something entirely new, and looks quite swell on gents of certain shape.

The VARSITY and NORFOLK are novelties in Coats, that will not last many months, yet look O-K on some folks.

TROUSERS are looser in fit than formerly. The material for this Spring smacks of newness that reflects credit on the Twentieth Century ideas.

In outer coats, LAIGLON, shot top or regular length, are all worn.

BOYS' STYLES are too numerous to mention, so you'll have to come and see for yourself.

Getting Thin

is all right, if you are too fat; and all wrong, if too thin already.

Fat, enough for your habit, is healthy; a little more, or less, is no great harm. Too fat, consult a doctor; too thin, persistently thin, no matter what cause, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil.

There are many causes of getting too thin; they all come under these two heads: over-work and under-digestion.

Stop over-work, if you can; but, whether you can or not, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, to balance yourself with your work. You can't live on it—true—but, by it, you can. There's a limit, however; you'll pay for it.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the readiest cure for "can't eat," unless it comes of your doing no work—you can't long be well and strong, without some sort of activity.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

FACTS and OBSERVATIONS

The writer attended County Court at Owingsville yesterday. There was a large attendance. There seemed to be but few good cattle on the market. Horses were in demand.

Owingsville is now without a hotel, as the Owings House was closed some weeks ago.

Clayton Howell, Price Calk, A. L. Tipton, John Roberts and C. H. Donohue were in attendance from Mt. Sterling.

SICK.

F. M. (Ciel) Ewing has had double pleurisy for nearly a week and is regarded as dangerously sick. Dr. Willis, of this city, and Dr. James Taulbee, of Owingsville, are attending him. Enroute to depot at Preston we learned that he was no better.

Dr. Frank Gudgell is seriously sick.

Enroute from Owingsville we occupied a seat in the carriage with Mrs. E. H. Goodpaster, who was going to Lexington.

At Preston in the morning we saw express packages pitched on the ground, as the ticket agent there refused to accept them. Between Lexington and Ashland all agents who fill the double office of express agent and ticket agent have since Sunday morning refused to accept or deliver express matter. By tonight all such employees on the entire C. & O. system will do likewise. The agent at Preston informed us that he and others had quit because the Express Company had failed to keep its promise regarding certain payment of money.

Stallions for Season 1902.

EASTER Is Coming!

EASTER is the day on which nature is supposed to begin with a freshness of life. Shake off the cold scales of winter, and adorn with a brighter, better looking, and more befitting attire.

MAN, AS NATURE'S MASTER, should consider her ways, and begin at once to arrange his costume so that when taken captive by "his majesty." Many men are not careful to think upon the whys and wherefores of their dress. They seem to think "any old thing," just so it's clothes.

Let Not This be Your Way.

Having pledged our selves to always furnish the latest in style, newest in cloth and best in fit.

We Are Proud to Say This Spring

finds us more ready than ever before. In fact, we surely can please the most exacting. We carry everything man or boy wears; have every article made for us out of the best by the best, and we want them to be worn by the best. So you are invited to call and see.

A Change. I take this method of notifying my friends that I have accepted a position with Sutton & Harris, in the Undertaking Department. If occasion should arise for need of my services, I ask my friends to remember where they can find me. For years I have gone into the houses of sorrow in this community and have tried always to render the best service I was capable of giving. I promise to those needing me the same efficient and attentive service in future as in the past. The house for which I am working has the finest Funeral Cars in this end of the State and will, as they have always done, keep a full line of up-to-date goods in stock. I am therefore in a position to promise my friends the very best of service when they shall send for me. Thanking you for the confidence reposed in me in the past, I earnestly ask that I may be permitted to serve you in the future, when you shall be so unfortunate as to stand in need of my services. Geo. C. EASTIN.	LAND, STOCK AND CROP ITEMS. Silas Lane to D. S. Gay, 50,000 pounds hemp at $5. J. R. Sharp sold to T. J. Thomas about 7,000 lbs. tobacco at 7c. E. E. Keith bought of F. M. Willoughby, Joe Swope and Joe Johnson, near Sideview, their tobacco crop at 44, 64 and 74c. R. B. Young sold to J. G. Carlin, of Philippi, W. Va., a Wild Eye bull calf for $100; to Jno. T. Young, of Kogan county, a Roan Duchess calf for $50. The Imperial Tobacco Company of Great Britain and Ireland, formed in opposition to the American Tobacco Company, has decided to open an office in Richmond, Va. The record price on any market for a hoghead of the 1901 crop of leaf tobacco was obtained at Louisville by J. F. Lippert, of Jessamine county, who received $25.50 per 100 pounds for a bright package weighing 930 pounds. He sold his crop of thirteen hogheads, grown on eight acres, for $1,612.13. J. N. Hisle bought of C. H. Jones, 10,000 pounds tobacco at 8c; of J. R. Wilson and R. R. Warner a crop at 10c, said to be the finest in this section for years; of D. L. Smith and M. Curry, about 4,000 pounds at 74c. Wm. McCray, of Bourbon, of Joe M. Henry, 11,000 pounds at 74c; of W. F. Henry, 8,000 at 74 and 24c; of J. Ishmael, 10,000 at 74 and 3c.	The Floods. The rainfall and floods of last Thursday and Friday in the north and south were the worst in many years. Georgia and Alabama got the worst of the flood in the south. A bridge was swept away at Columbus, Ga., and the railroads in the two States were tided up. West Point, Ga., was flooded and merchants were forced to move their goods from the stores. At Pittsburg Saturday the river reached a stage of over 30 feet, the highest of any previous record, except in 1832 and 1884. Mills and factories were forced to close down and thousands of men are idle. Many business houses and hotels were flooded and two theaters were forced to close. The damage will be heavy, but has been lessened by reason of the fact that the people had some warnings of the flood and were somewhat prepared for it when it came.

STREET FAIR.

Bigger, Greater Attractions Than Ever Before.

In 1901 the A. O. U. W. and Red Men of Mt. Sterling joined in their efforts and gave the most successful week's entertainment in the way of a Street Fair in the history of our city. At the close of the fair they announced they would give another in 1902 and to carry out that promise they have taken the initiative by effecting a permanent organization. The date will be

Mt. Sterling Advocate SUPPLEMENT.

MT. STERLING, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY, MARCH 11, 1902.

Politics Caused It.

Mail Clerk Milton S. Crain was arrested in Lexington Saturday charged with opening letters that passed through his hands while on duty as clerk on the line between Lexington and Jackson. The arrest has occasioned much surprise in the blue grass district, where Crain and his family have been prominent for years. Though doing duty as a railway mail clerk at a salary of $1,000 a year, Crain is one of the prominent business men of Jackson and his county, and is reckoned as a political power. He is owner of half a dozen houses in the town, and quite as an incident of more important business, has owned and operated one of the newspapers of the county.

His brother is Postmaster at Jackson, and it was this circumstance which caused him to enter on the course resulting in his present unfortunate predicament. The brother wants to be reappointed as Postmaster, and has been bending every effort to that end in the face of considerable opposition.

There is no charge or suspicion that Crain had any motive or object in taking the letters other than to find out what was going on about the Postmaster contest.

Crain confessed and was taken before the United States Commissioner at Lexington and bound over to appear in the United States Court at Frankfort.

New Line.

John Fochan is opening up a new line to his business, which is everything in the plumbing line. He is a practical man and we may expect the best work at reasonable prices from him.

See Chappie Gatewood make the high dive from a 60 foot tower into 10 inches of water. Elks Minstrel March 20th.

Change of Quarters.

George C. Eastin has been engaged by Sutton & Harris and all his business as Undertaker and Embalmer will be done from there in the future.

Dropped Dead.

Albert Redd, colored, dropped dead Sunday on Main Street from heart trouble.

F. M. EWING DEAD.

Mr. Felix McClellan Ewing died of pneumonia at his home near Owensville Monday evening at 10:30 o'clock, aged about forty years. The announcement of his death was a heavy blow to his many friends here. In asking some of them concerning his life, his sudden death, the answer came with tremulous voice, for indeed they loved him.

Mr. Ewing had become interested in Mt. Sterling, having recently purchased the National Hotel, and the work to make it one of the modern hotels of Kentucky had begun. He was a rich man, having inherited much of the large estate of his father, the late A. J. Ewing, of Bath county. His wealth is variously estimated from two hundred thousand dollars to more than a million. The Bath county oil interests are to a large extent on lands owned by him, and had he lived this interest alone would have made him one of the richest men of the States. He was one of the large stockholders of the Montgomery National Bank to be opened in this city at an early date.

One gentleman speaking of him said he was a wise investor of capital, and had he lived a few years longer he could have owned farm lands connecting the county seats of Bath and Montgomery.

He leaves five sisters—Mrs. Joshua Owings and Mrs. J. W. Gatewood, this county; Mrs. Dr. James Poyntz, of Richmond; Mrs. J. E. Gaiskill, of Winchester, and Mrs. Jesse Turney, of Paris.

He had no church relations. His application for membership into the order of Elks had been made. He was a young man of decision, had many friends, and had he lived would have been capable of doing much good.

At the hour of going to press no arrangements for the last sad rites had been given out.

See Miss Georgia Eastin, the Lady Bare-back Rider, in Elks Circus March 20th.

Secure your seats at Isola's today for Mario's entertainment.

Farm for Sale.

Mr. C. H. Donahue will on the 26th inst. sell without reserve his country home three and one half miles from this city. This is one of the best farms in the county with a good two story brick residence and outbuildings; well fenced and watered. The farm contains one hundred and twenty acres in a high state of cultivation and is an opportunity for a fine investment. Mr. Donahue will be pleased to give any information desired and can be reached at Mt. Sterling, Ky. See advertisement.

Close Call.

Joe Kirby, of Falmouth, aged 17 years, and who is employed at the Continental Tobacco Company in this city, was playing at snowball with a friend and losing his balance fell through the elevator shaft, breaking his arm in two places.

LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

Total sales in this market last week were 4,867 hbls., against 4,702 hbls. on corresponding week of last year. Total receipts, 3,266 hbls., against 2,236 hbls. for corresponding week last year. Rejections last week were 931 hbls., 22 per cent. of the auction sales, against 22 per cent. for the preceding week. Of the total sales 3,821 hbls. were Burley and 1,046 were Dark tobacco.

The offerings this week have been the largest of the year, and the quality has averaged better. The market Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday was dull and draggy. The Continental and American Tobacco Cos. were liberal buyers, but outsiders did not offer competition enough to make a strong market. On Thursday, however, some of the independent buyers and brokers seemed to have mustered up a little more courage, and prices for that day were several bids higher than the three preceding days. The record for 1901 crop was again broken by the Planters' House this week, when a Jessamine county bright leaf sold for $25.50 per cwt. to the American Tobacco Co. The crop to which this hoghead belonged, amounting to 13 hogheads averaged close to $12 per hundred and yielded about $200 per acre.
